SKYLER AUDITION SCENE

INT. LIVING ROOM - DAY
(FRED, SKYLER)

SKYLER IS LACING UP HIS TENNIS SHOES.

FRED (O.S.)

Skyler?

SKYLER

In here, Dad.

FRED ENTERS.

FRED

I picked up your backpack and look what fell out.

HE HOLDS UP A HALF PINT BOTTLE OF VODKA.

FRED (CONT'D)

Does this help you take the edge off math?

SKYLER FREEZES.

FRED (CONT'D)

Where did you get this?

SKYLER

I dug it out of Mrs. Froner's trash can.

FRED

The woman with no teeth and sixteen cats?

SKYLER

She has a tooth. It's way in the back.

FRED

I'm not even going to ask how you know that. Now, what were you thinking?

SKYLER

Dad, I didn't do anything wrong. It's not vodka. You told me never to drink. So I filled it with water. That way everyone thinks I'm drinking vodka, but I'm not. So, there's no problem. You shouldn't be mad. You should be proud of me.

FRED

You're right. I'm going to get a bumper sticker that says: "I'm the proud parent of a middle school alcoholic."

SKYLER

Come on, Dad. I just wanted to look cool.

FRED

So, drinking is cool. Who told you that?

SKYLER

Hoyt Wetzal. He told us he sneaks beer from his dad and drinks it. And everybody said, "Whoa, that's cool."

3/4

FRED

No, no, no. That's not cool. It's illegal. It's stupid. And it's dangerous.

SKYLER

Yeah, but girls like guys who are dangerous.

FRED

Who told you that?

SKYLER

Hoyt Wetzel.

FRED

That Hoyt Wetzel is a twelve-year-old fountain of wisdom. Tell you what, Son, if you want a little danger in your life, let's go show this bottle to your mother.

SKYLER

No, please. Not that. I'll throw it away. I promise I'll never, ever try to be cool again. I'll be just like you.

FRED

Thank you.
